2020 HONEY ADULTERATION
SYMPOSIUM

April 22, 2021

2021 THEME

“Understanding the issues of honey, beekeeping and the safety of our food supply”

With a focus on keeping our food system healthy, presenters will address issues of pollination, economic adulteration, and how beekeeping, a mainstay for this system, is being threatened. A panel of specialty food retailers will discuss how they source and select products and educate and inspire their customers. Learn how you can be a part of the growing need for food authenticity.

Keynote Speaker

Michael T. Roberts is the founding Executive Director of the Resnick Center for Food Law and Policy at UCLA School of Law. A thought leader in a broad range of legal and policy issues from farm to fork in local, national, and global food supply systems, Roberts has presented papers to the United Nations, the US Government and researched extensively on food fraud, including honey adulteration. Roberts taught the first food law and policy course in the United States in 2004 and was a leading force in the development in 2005 of the Journal of Food Law and Policy, a publication devoted exclusively to the field. Since his arrival at UCLA in 2013, Roberts has authored and edited major foundational publications on food law including a major treatise on food law, titled, Food Law in the United States (Cambridge University Press 2016).
